John Smith
Corporal/ United States Marine Corps

I was born and raised in Singapore. I moved to the United States in 2001. I enlisted in the Marine Corps in 2003 during my senior year of high school, Cleveland High School, Portland, Oregon. I joined the Marine Corps to serve my country and gain those intangible traits like self-reliance, self-discipline, and self-direction, unlike my peers who chose to follow the pack and go to school. I am currently working on my degree in Political Science with hopes to one day pursue a career as an attorney.

I served as a Company Clerk, Marine Corps Communications-Electronics School, Twenty-nine Palms, and California. My MOS was 0151, Personnel Administration. During this time, I worked in different facets of the Administrative field; legal administration, promotions, retirements and separation, orders, and the pay section.

My personal awards include Global War on Terrorism Service Medal, National Defense Medal, Good Conduct Medal, and Certificate of Commendations.

I owe my success in the civilian sector to my experiences in the Marine Corps in that short amount of time. I am thankful for the lessons I have learned and will continue to take with me along the way.
