

Originally the reporter Brad Wolverton said Mt. SAC might be a small part of a bigger story, but it looks like his bigger story dried up and he used results from the public records act request to formulate his story. Based on the emails we turned over, I do not see issues, but I can't speak to the accuracy of the story based on the interviews.

--Yen Mai