

Guided Pathways Self-Assessment Tool Crosswalk for CCCs

The California Community College Chancellor's Office (CCCCO) Self-Assessment tool was constructed based on the key elements of guided pathways to support the California Community College Guided Pathways (CCC GP) effort. While colleges can create Guided Pathways in different ways, this framework integrates a number of evidence-based practices to improve student completion that have emerged from the field and research over the last decade.

To support CCCs with their efforts to complete the self-assessment and Guided Pathways framework implementation, the following table provides a crosswalk of the items from the CCC GP Self-Assessment tool¹ and the Scale of Adoption² associated with the California Guided Pathways project (CAGP)³ and the American Association for Community Colleges \(AACC\) Pathways project⁴, as well as a list of related California initiatives in order to help colleges:

- Integrate existing college improvement efforts
- Leverage the existing work completed for CAGP or AACC
- Identify areas of synergy across Guided Pathways efforts and tools
- Find specific activities, processes, and examples of how colleges have and can advance in each area related to Guided Pathways
