

Dear Dr. Scroggins,

If more than half of today's college students and alumni are women, why are women still vastly underrepresented in business, politics, and technology ventures? Mt. San Antonio College's membership in AAUW can help change that.

As the nation's leading voice promoting equity and education for women and girls, we collaborate with colleges and universities to create groundbreaking research focused on women's educational equity and attainment; award more than $3.7 million annually in fellowships and grants to graduate students and faculty; and advocate for policies — like Title IX — that have an immediate impact on your campus in terms of science, technology, engineering, and math (STEM) funding and the resources to fight campus sexual assault.

That's why I would like Mt. San Antonio College to consider joining more than 800 colleges and universities to become a member of AAUW. Here are some of the benefits of membership:

Fund Your Staff and Students' Education and Activism

- AAUW's fellowships and grants for graduate students range from $750 to $30,000 each year for gender-equity projects and graduate study.
- AAUW college/university members receive an advantage when they apply for AAUW's $5,000 Campus Action Project grants.

Strengthen Your Staff and Students' Professional Development

- AAUW's annual National Conference for College Women Student Leaders \(NCCWSL\) is an unparalleled opportunity for students and campus professionals to hone skills in leadership, professional development, and networking.
- Students, faculty, and staff can find networking opportunities through AAUW's 800+ college/university members and 170,000+ members and supporters.
- Faculty and staff can enhance their CVs through appointments to prestigious AAUW fellowships and grants selection panels.

Promote Women's Equity on Campus

- AAUW's salary negotiation workshops train your students, staff, and alumni how to negotiate the starting salaries they deserve. Here is a testimonial from an AAUW Start Smart participant.

"Before the workshop, I had no idea how to properly negotiate a salary or benefits plan. I didn't even fully understand how to factor in the cost of living toward my salary. This honestly was the best workshop for me to plan for my future career."

— Monica, an AAUW Start Smart participant from Kutztown University

- Get access to AAUW's latest research on women's issues in education, leadership, and more.

Enjoy Membership Perks and Discounts

- Two faculty or staff members receive free AAUW national memberships.
- Your campus will gain institutional visibility as a supporter of gender equity.
- All undergraduate students can become AAUW student members at no cost.

Don't miss out on this special opportunity to join AAUW for just $175, the membership rate reserved especially for new college/university members.

Join us today to make a difference for women on your campus.

Sincerely,

Kendra L. Davis
Senior Vice President for Advancement and Partnerships
AAUW

AAUW
1310 L St. NW, Suite 1000
Washington, DC 20005
connect@aauw.org

Unsubscribe from AAUW College/University emails.