California Community Colleges Undocumented Student Week of Action:

Why support Undocumented Students?

- All Californians, regardless of immigration status, deserve a chance for a higher education.
- Supporting and advocating for undocumented students are essential for a prosperous and equitable California.
- Undocumented students contribute to our country via income and sales taxes but are ineligible for federal benefits such as Pell Grants, work study, Medicaid or cash assistance.

California Community Colleges Undocumented Student Week of Action:

Why Take Action

- 92% of DACA recipients say the program helped them achieve their educational goals.
- A UC San Diego study found that income of participants increased by 45%.
- The CATO Institute found that without DACA, the US economy could shrink by $215 billion over 10 years.
- The same study found that the federal government will directly lose $60 billion over 10 years via foregone income taxes.

Board of Governors Resolution 2018-05

- Declares October 15-19, 2018, as “Undocumented Students Week of Action” to work in partnership with other organizations and encourage colleges to engage in activities supporting undocumented students.
- Supports work by the Chancellor’s Office to identify and share best practices for assisting undocumented students, disseminate information about access and funding for legal services, and reinforce policies that protect student rights and privacy.
- Renews a commitment to actions that raise awareness about opportunities for all Californians to enroll and succeed in postsecondary education, and to provide information specific to the undocumented student population about community college support services as well as external services and resources.
- Urges Congressional members to uphold California values and create a pathway to citizenship for undocumented students.
