Design Work Underway Ahead of Major Construction

Not long after the historic contract signing on October 4, 2019, the Kiewit-Parsons Joint Venture team was already underway with various pre-construction activities to help inform and complete the project's design, in preparation for the major construction phase that is anticipated to begin in late summer 2020.

As shown in the pictures below, crews have been out in the field collecting soil samples, verifying underground utilities and surveying the rail corridor. These efforts will continue in the weeks ahead.

In addition, Kiewit-Parsons has been holding multi-day design-focused workshops and coordination meetings with the Construction Authority and third party project partners (such as the corridor cities, LA Metro, Metrolink and utility companies). A successful Partnering Workshop (photo below) was held last week to bring together key staff from the aforementioned project partners and to set the stage for collaboration throughout the life of the project's construction.
